AM I A CAREGIVER?

CPAAA is Here to Help call 855-200-2372

Nearly one out of every four U.S. households is involved with caregiving (23% or 22.4 million households). Nearly 7 million of them are long distance caregivers. Caregivers can be anyone such as family, friends, caring neighbors or faith communities. Caregivers can provide a range of support from shopping, snow removal, a friendly visit, and more direct support such as meal preparation, bathing, housekeeping and 24 hour care.

Caregiving may be one of the most important roles you will undertake in your lifetime. Typically, it is not an easy role, nor is it one for which most are prepared. Whether you are a caregiver, know a caregiver or are expecting to become a caregiver, there is help available. You are not alone.

A caregiver is a family member or another individual, who is an informal provider of in-home and supportive services to any person needing assistance, including an older adult. Support and services for caregivers are available to help you continue to take care of your loved one and also take care of yourself. ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE AND RELATED DEMENTIAS

Dementia is a general term for several diseases that cause changes in an individual's orientation, ability to remember, reasoning and judgment. Ability to learn, personality, language skills and a person's perception can also be affected.

Alzheimer's disease is an irreversible, progressive brain disorder that slowly destroys memory and thinking skills and eventually, the ability to carry out the simplest tasks. It is the sixth leading cause of death in the U.S.

If a primary care doctor suspects mild cognitive impairment or possible Alzheimer's he or she may refer to a specialist such as: Geriatricians, Geriatric psychiatrists, Neurologists, Neuropsychologists

Testing Includes:

Cognitive and neuropsychological tests

A number of tests measure thinking skills, such as memory, orientation, reasoning and judgment, language skills, and attention.

Neurological evaluation

Doctors evaluate memory, language, visual perception, attention, problem-solving, movement, senses, balance, reflexes and other areas.

Brain scans

- CT or MRI - check for evidence of stroke or bleeding or tumor or hydrocephalus.
- PET scans - these can show patterns of brain activity and whether the amyloid or tau protein, hallmarks of Alzheimer's disease, have been deposited in the brain.

Laboratory tests

Simple blood tests can detect physical problems that can affect brain function.

Psychiatric evaluation

A mental health professional can determine whether depression or another mental health condition is contributing to symptoms.

The local Alzheimer's Association provides support groups, training for caregivers and health care professionals, video/book library, publications, newsletters, outreach and safe return registry and referrals.

Scams and frauds can happen to anyone. However, older adults are often targeted because they have a steady income, are at home more and are generally more trusting. The most popular scams involve Medicare and Medicaid fraud, door-to-door sales, home repair, computer technology and identity theft. Remember, if it sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

Are you Smarter than a Scam Artist?

Scam artists are smart, there's no way around that. But you can be smarter by both preventing a scam and/or by reporting them if you do fall for one.

Protect yourself from fraud:

- Do not answer calls from unknown numbers. If you do so by mistake, hang up immediately.
- If you answer the phone and the caller - or a recording - asks you to hit a button to stop getting the calls, you should just hang up. Scammers often use this trick to identify potential targets.
- If a person calls and says they are from your doctor's office/Medicare/bank/Social Security and need personal information, hang up. Do not press re-dial, but call the number that you know to be theirs and ask if they need that information. Scammers have the ability to make your caller ID show familiar numbers.
- Never send gift cards to anyone asking for them over the phone or e-mail. This is a scam.

See www.fcc.gov/general/frauds-scams-and-alerts-guides for the latest on scams and how to protect yourself.

HOW TO CHOOSE A NURSING HOME

CPAAA is Here to Help call 855-200-2372

There comes a time when remaining in ones home may not be safe or may become too difficult to manage day to day. Managing household tasks or personal care may prove to be overwhelming or physically challenging. In home services are right in some situations, offering support for people to remain in their home but when limited support isn't enough a long term care (LTC) facility may need to be considered. There are many options available today which offer people in various circumstances and financial situations choice. People go to a LTC facility for many reasons including illness, rehab, chronic care needs, disability or dementia. Understanding your options can help you make the best decision for you or a loved one.

How to Find a Nursing Home

Choosing a nursing home is complex and many factors are involved including comparing nursing home ratings, staff to resident ratio, availability of a dementia care unit and size and location of the facility. There is no one site to make all of these determinations but Medicare's Care-Compare site at www.medicare.gov/care-compare does a nice job offering several of these points. At this site you can also find healthcare providers including hospital, doctors, nursing homes and more. Asking people you trust is another excellent way to make a decision on a nursing home.

CARE Assessment

Anyone seeking admission to a Medicaid or Medicare certified nursing home in Kansas must have a CARE assessment per state and federal requirements to ensure individuals find the appropriate level of care. This assessment is completed by CPAAA's friendly staff and they can offer information about your long term care (LTC) options and answer questions regarding LTC.

For more information on this program contact the Resource Center at 855-200-2372.

Paying for Care

- Medicare: pays under limited conditions, short-term following a qualifying hospital stay.
- Medicare Supplemental Insurance: usually dependent on whether or not Medicare pays.
- Personal Resources: savings or investments.

RED FLAGS FOR ELDER ABUSE AND NEGLECT

CPAAA is Here to Help call 855-200-2372

Elder abuse can happen to anyone. One in ten seniors aged 60 and older are affected by abuse. Elder abuse can happen in all types of relationships with a multitude of causes including family dynamics, caregiver stress or targeted scams that prey on vulnerable seniors. Elder abuse can take place anywhere including in an older adult's home, in relative's homes or in a facility. Central Plains Area Agency on Aging wants you to know about red flags. The more people who learn about the warning signs and how to report abuse, the better progress we can make toward addressing abusive situations and recognizing elders in danger.

Types of abuse include: physical, sexual, emotional, neglect, self neglect and financial abuse/exploitation.

Victims of elder abuse can experience emotional distress following the abuse such as fear, anxiety, feelings of helplessness, depression and lack of trust. Seniors can also experience physical abuse and suffer from cuts, bruises, welts or other more serious injuries such as broken bones, head injuries, and constant pain. These can exacerbate existing conditions and even cause premature death. There are common red flags or warning signs such as tension or arguing between a caregiver and the senior or a change in the older adult's personality. Sometimes it is difficult to determine if a situation is abuse or something else such as signs of dementia/confusion or another conflict but concerns should not be dismissed. A gut instinct is often what tells a person to report a potentially abusive situation. Don't assume someone else will report the abuse. If you suspect abuse, report it!

How to Report Elder Abuse

IF YOU OR SOMEONE YOU KNOW IS IN A LIFE THREATENING SITUATION OR IMMEDIATE DANGER, contact

911 or local law enforcement.

SOCIAL SECURITY DISABILITY BENEFITS

Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) and Supplemental Security Income (SSI), are both separate federal programs that assist people with disabilities. Both of these programs are administered by the Social Security Administration (SSA). Only individuals who have a disability and meet certain medical criteria qualify for benefits under either program.

Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) – Pays benefits to you or certain family members if you are “insured”. Insured means you have worked recently enough and paid social security taxes on your earnings for a certain period of time. Monthly benefits are paid if you are insured, and have a medical condition that will last at least one year, or result in death.

Social Security Income (SSI) – Is a program that comes from general tax revenue. It helps people with disabilities, people who are blind, or those over age 65, who have little or no income. The program provides financial assistance to meet the basic needs for food, clothing, and shelter.

How do you apply?

You can apply online, by phone, or in person.

Appeal a Decision- You have a right to appeal a decision made by the Social Security Administration. Appeals must be made in writing within 60 days of receiving a decision. Appeal forms are available online, by calling the toll free phone number, or by contacting your local Social Security Office.

WHAT ARE MY LONG TERM CARE HOUSING OPTIONS

CPAAA is Here to Help call 855-200-2372

Most people want to stay home as long as possible but when things get challenging or are no longer safe, looking at housing alternatives is a smart next step.

Independent Living - An array of apartments, duplexes and condominiums are available, both on a private pay and subsidized basis (ex. HUD or other income based rent). Amenities, services and activities provided vary and some options may involve an application process and waitlist. Continuing Care Retirement Communities usually include this level of housing in their option package. They are not licensed by the state.

Assisted Living - Designed to offer supportive and personal care services on an as needed basis ranging from bathing, medication management, housekeeping and overall monitoring.

Home Plus - A smaller more intimate setting usually in a residential area serving 12 or fewer residents. These homes are licensed private homes. All people share the common spaces of the home. Meals are provided, supervised care provided by certified nurse aides is available twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. Staffing, assistance and services are the same as in an assisted living facility.

Paying for long term care is a top concern for many. It is expensive and can be confusing. For more information on these and other housing options call 855-200-2372.

Housing lists are available by contacting the Resource Center at 855-200-2372 or visiting www.cpaaa.org/services/seniors/housing
