

Are You Ready for the Digital Transition June 12th?

What Is Happening?

Your TV signal is switching to “digital.” For more than fifty years, TV broadcasters have sent their shows to your TV using “analog” signals. After June 12, 2009, all of the old analog signals will be gone and most of the stations you watch will use only the new digital signals.

What Does This Mean To You?

- If all of your TVs are hooked up to cable or satellite, you will continue to get your TV after the switch. Just check with your cable or satellite company to be sure.
- If you have a digital TV, you are ready for the switch. (If your TV is more than 10 years old it probably is not digital. If it is less than 10 years old, ask the manufacturer if your TV is “analog-only.”)
- If you have an analog-only TV with a roof top antenna or “rabbit ears,” you will not be able to watch TV stations after June 12, 2009 unless you get a “converter box.”
